Wednesday, November 25, 2009 Can the Jargon-Fu Kill the Sequester?
People interested in rhetoric and acronyms know all about the sequester. Everyone was talking about it throughout the debate over the budget. The sequester refers to a set of across-the-board cuts that will result in draconian cuts to federal spending, for example a $600 billion cut in discretionary spending and a $100 billion cut in defense spending.
Sequester. The New York Times is reporting that some people, at least in the White House, are now trying to kill the sequester. The official word is that they want to turn the sequester into a trigger and look to extend it. This is known as "sequester insurance." The sequester, if not replaced with some kind of legislative extension, could lead to hundreds of thousands of layoffs. In fact, the CBO says that it could lead to a furlough for millions of federal workers, which in turn could lead to furloughs of members of Congress. The CBO also says that the sequester could lead to more than $500 billion being taken out of the economy. What does this all mean? Does it mean that the sequ
